Getting the front-end source code

You can get all the source code for the front-end portal from the zip file attached to this lesson.

After downloading it, I would recommend extracting the contents of the zip to a directory just next to the directory where you have all your microservices. So if your Catalog microservice lives in D:\projects\Play.Catalog, you could extract the zip file into D:\projects\Play.Frontend.

In the next lesson you will explore the structure of the frontend code base and also how build and run it.
